

Keep the league alive after the console turns off.

A persistent mobile community and front-office companion for MyNBA and MyGM.

WORKING PROTOTYPE

PROPOSED 2K INTEGRATION

The game ends. The league should not.

Franchise communities lose momentum when essential activity moves into disconnected tools.

01 Coordination fragments

Schedules, rules, trades, and availability move into third-party chats and spreadsheets.

02 Vacancies stall the league

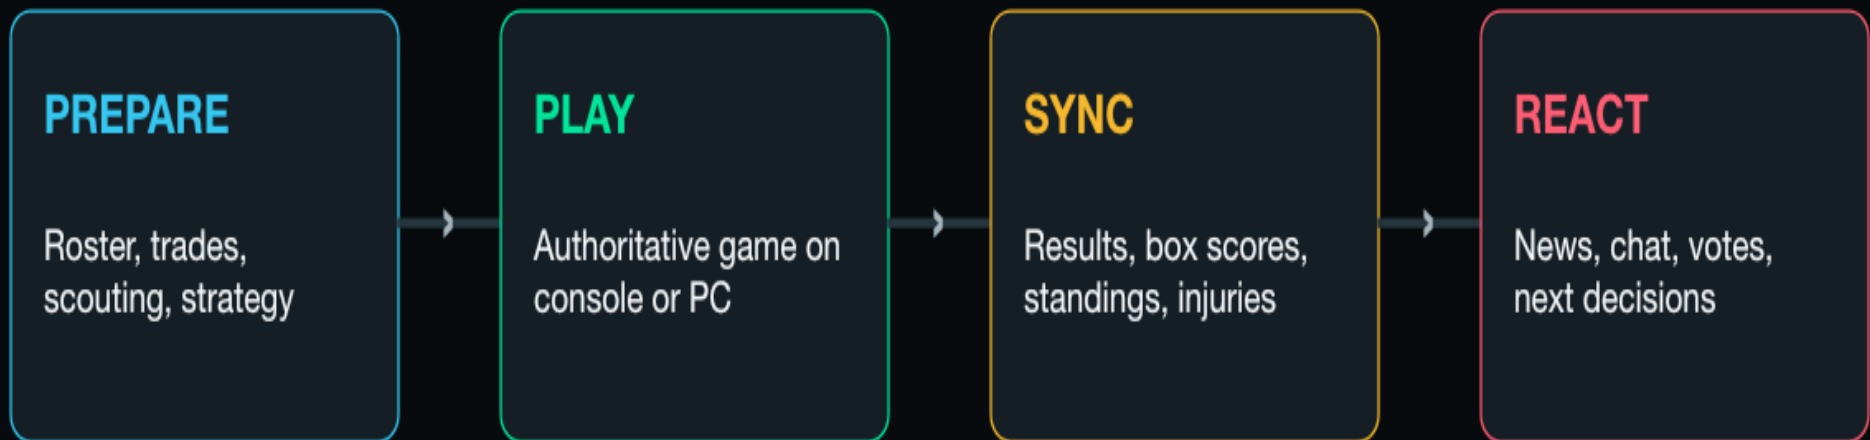

A missing GM can block matchups, negotiations, and season progression.

03 Management waits for console time

Routine front-office decisions compete with the time required to launch and play the full game.

One league. Two surfaces. Continuous engagement.

Mobile handles asynchronous management and community; NBA 2K owns the playable basketball experience.

The next console session begins before the previous league conversation ends.

The league operating layer already exists.

The pitch demo is isolated, seeded, and designed to show a complete franchise-management loop.

Viewer-safe demo

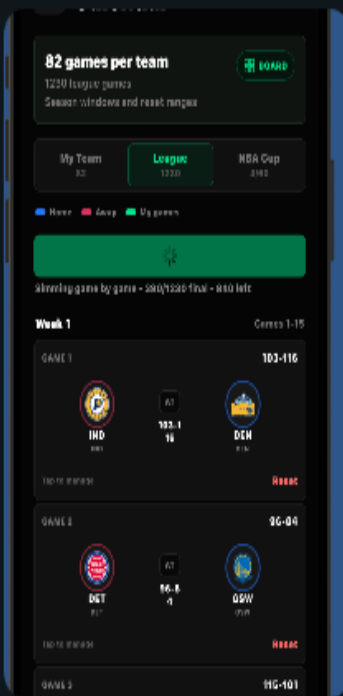

A front office that travels with the player.

Designed for quick decisions, sustained league activity, and a direct return path to NBA 2K.

Mobile decisions create reasons to return to NBA 2K.

The console or PC game remains the moment of truth; the companion makes that moment easier to reach.

AWAY FROM CONSOLE

- Review schedule and standings
- Prepare matchup strategy
- Coordinate availability
- Resolve league business

ON NBA 2K

Play the scheduled matchup

NBA 2K remains authoritative for gameplay outcomes, licensed content, player data, anti-cheat, and platform services.

RESULTS RETURN TO THE LEAGUE

More league life. More reasons to return.

The opportunity is not more screen time for its own sake; it is healthier, more persistent communities around NBA 2K.

ENGAGEMENT

Create useful daily touchpoints between full game sessions.

RETENTION

Reduce league drop-off by keeping schedules, vacancies, and decisions moving.

COMMUNITY

Bring coordination and conversation into a first-party connected ecosystem.

DIFFERENTIATION

Give MyNBA and MyGM a persistent identity beyond the console session.

Precedent exists for connected console/mobile progression. Franchise Mobile applies that direction to franchise and community continuity.

Start with franchise. Grow into the broader community.

MyNBA and MyGM provide the focused first integration; MyCAREER community is the strategic upside.

- 01 CONNECTED FRANCHISE MyNBA / MyGM league management, commissioner tools, schedules, trades, results, and social activity.
- 02 ORGANIZED PLAY Creator leagues, community events, availability, matchup scheduling, groups, and persistent rivalry history.
- 03 MyCAREER COMMUNITY Teammate discovery, squads, player identity, scheduled sessions, and community coordination outside console.
